10/25/17	Governmental and Church Group Health Plans: What Rules Apply? Which plans fit within ERISA's exemption for governmental and church plans? We'll consider quasi-governmental entities, and the latest litigation narrowing the church plan definition. For plans that do fit within these definitions, what does ERISA exemption mean—must these plans comply with state law? And how do the Affordable Care Act and other federal laws apply to governmental and church plans? We'll walk you through the legal landscape and answer your tricky questions during a Q&A session; you can also submit questions in advance!	EW188T	Specialized Industry	2
11/09/17	Medicare and COBRA: Understanding the Interaction and Avoiding Common Mistakes The intersection of Medicare and COBRA is one of the most complex aspects of group health plan administration. Failing to navigate the complexities can be costly. We'll give you the background—the ABC's (and D) of Medicare, and explain the difference between eligibility for and "entitlement to" Medicare. Our main focus will be the interaction between Medicare and COBRA—for example, explaining when a covered employee's Medicare entitlement is and is not a COBRA qualifying event, and when a covered employee's Medicare entitlement can extend COBRA's maximum coverage period for the employee's spouse and children. We'll also highlight some other key Medicare compliance rules.	EW189T	Specialized Industry	2

12/14/17	New Year's Resolution: Self-Audit Your Group Health Plan Calling all plan sponsors and plan administrators: What's the best way to ensure your group health plans are in compliance with legal rules before you're audited by the government? Conduct a self-audit! As a plan sponsor or plan administrator, you are responsible for the plan's compliance—even if you're outsourcing administration to a TPA. We'll explain how you can audit your plan (or work with your service provider to audit the service provider's administrative functions) to identify and correct potential problems across all areas of compliance—tax, ERISA, COBRA, and HIPAA—before you hear from the IRS, DOL, or HHS. We'll walk you through how you can use the agencies' own guidelines and audit materials to design and implement a self audit of the plans you sponsor or work with.	EW192T	Specialized Industry	2
